General Quijano Dies Bravely

General Quijano Dies Bravely
The blindfolded and then seen by his executioners. He was seen by his executioners. He was seen by his executioners.

Mexico City, Oct. 7 (P).—General Quijano, executed for rebellion, died bravely.

Placed against a sun-warmed wall in the court yard of grim old San Carlos military prison, stripped of insignia and branded a traitor, he glared the blindfold and twice defied his executioners nearer, that they might not miss.

Quijano led his troops out of the Mexico City barracks last night to join the rebellion under the leadership of which General Serrano has already been executed and Generals Aranao and Hector Alameda are being hunted in the interior of Vera Cruz.

Seized and turned over to the government forces by his own men, who claimed he had deceived them, Quijano was questioned before a court martial all of Wednesday night and early yesterday was found guilty and sentenced to die.

Nearly 2,000 troops lined the court when the general entered the place of execution at 11:20, waiting ahead of his guards, smiling and waving greetings to friends he came to see.

Clean shaven and showing perfect self control in every line of his clear face, he strode across the court and without hesitation, selected a place before the granite wall and stood rigidly erect, a commanding figure, more than six feet tall, of powerful build.

The condemned man, calmly surveying the scene, saw the correspondence of the Associated Press, the New York Times, and the New York Herald-Tribune, the only foreign newspapers present, waving his hand and cried in English: "Good-bye! Good-bye!"

Then as the firing squad took its position he said to the soldiers: "You are too far away. Come closer." "You are still too far away," said Quijano, with not a tremor in his voice. "You had better come still closer."

Again the squad moved forward, narrowing the distance to about fifteen feet.

He refused proudly to be blindfolded. The soldiers aimed their rifles. Silence gripped the court yard. Even the children, sensing the tenseness, ceased their prattle.

Quijano pushed the pith helmet back a bit on his forehead. The smile had faded, and his jaw was firmly set. He leaned forward, his hands behind his back and his shoulders hunched, presently like a man stealing himself for a plunge into cold water.

On the third stroke of the officer's sword the rifles cracked as one. The body leaped, as though released from great tension, and then reeled to fall backward. Every bullet had been aimed at the breast and the head was not disfigured.

But life was not extinct, and at a signal from the officer the sergeant of the firing squad stepped forward, placed the muzzle of his rifle within a inch of the forehead and pulled the trigger.

Social Worker Weds Murderer
Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 7 (P).—A prison romance involving a convicted murderer serving a life term in the Louisiana state penitentiary and a New Orleans social worker was revealed here today when it became known that E. E. Woolfiero, and Mrs. Martha B. Ogden of New Orleans, were married here last Tuesday by City Judge Dewey J. Sanchez.

The groom is 58 years old, the bride 38, according to their marriage license. Woolfiero was sent to prison for the murder of his son, and subsequently divorced by his wife, who now lives in New Orleans.

Mrs. Ogden also is divorced and her former husband lives in New Orleans. She met Woolfiero on visits to the state penitentiary office here while engaged in social work.

Woolfiero will go free on December 22, 1932, ten years and six months after beginning his term.

Miners Agree To Wage Scale
Kansas City, Oct. 7 (P).—After six months of arbitration representatives of striking Union Mine Workers in southwest states have agreed to resume under the wage scale provided in the contract which expired April 1.

About 20,000 miners were involved in Kansas. The contract provides for $7.50 a day for work. On tonnage basis, the rate ranges from $1.25 to $2 a ton.

Seek to Postpone Elmendorf Trial

Seek to Postpone Elmendorf Trial
Mrs. Kathryn Dunham, witness in the trial of Harry B. Elmendorf, is in Colorado, and attorneys ask postponement of trial until she returns.—Court Records.

A negligence action brought in the Supreme court by Harry A. Gilmore against Harry Kennedy has been settled. Grant M. Brimmer appeared for plaintiff and Rosendale, Dunham & Haines for defendant.

An action brought by Grant M. Morse against William R. Garrison for negligence was also announced as settled. Grant M. Brimmer appeared for plaintiff and Rosendale, Dunham & Haines for defendant.

A motion by defendant to have the allegation of affection action brought by Harry B. Elmendorf against George W. Ross put over the term was argued Thursday before Judge Hasbrouck. Frank W. Brooks, who appears with Woodard & Cogan of Albany for defendant, asked that the case go over the term on the grounds that a necessary witness was absent and could not be reached.

Mrs. Kathryn Dunham, who testified on the former trial, he said was in Denver, Colorado, and her condition would not permit her being present at the trial. An affidavit to that effect was filed with the court.

William D. Brimmer, Jr., who appears for Mr. Elmendorf, opposed the motion and asked that the case go on. Mr. Brimmer said that Mrs. Mix informed the sheriff when a process was being served that Mrs. Dunham was in Colorado and would not return east. He asked time to reply to the affidavit of defendant and suggested that since Mrs. Dunham had testified at a previous trial, her testimony could be read in the present trial.

Mr. Brooks said there was additional testimony to be brought by Mrs. Dunham which had not been brought out at the last trial in regard to conversations between Mr. Elmendorf and his wife which would show that the affections of the wife had never been alienated.

The motion was opposed by Mr. Brimmer also on the grounds that Mrs. Dunham had been on the stand on the previous trial and at that time ample opportunity had been given to bring out all of these conversations and he asked time to file affidavits.

Judge Hasbrouck allowed time to file affidavits and reserved decision until he had received the testimony of Mrs. Dunham given on the former trial. After reading that testimony he will decide whether it will be necessary to have her here for the next trial or whether testimony given on the former trial may be read in.

Form "Dempsey for Mayor Club"

Form "Dempsey for Mayor Club"
Enthusiastic Meeting Held in Red Men's Hall When Organization Was Effected by Electing Judge Shufeldt, Chairman, and C. E. O'Connor, Secretary.

The first gun in the campaign to elect Mayor E. J. Dempsey to succeed himself was fired at an enthusiastic meeting held Thursday evening in Red Men's Hall on Railroad avenue when a Dempsey for Mayor Club was organized, and plans made to hold weekly meetings until the election in November. A permanent organization was effected by electing City Judge Augustus Shufeldt as chairman and Charles R. O'Connor as secretary. Several committees were also appointed to carry out the plans of the club.

After the organization of the club had been effected brief talks were given by Mayor Dempsey, Alderman-at-Large A. Ray Everett, Alderman George Moore, who is a candidate for supervisor this fall in the Third ward, Walter G. Geroldsek, candidate for county clerk, and several others.

Mayor Dempsey was given an enthusiastic welcome by the large number of men who had gathered at the hall to form the Dempsey for Mayor Club, and spoke briefly of the work he had done when alderman-at-large and as mayor. He said he had tried to be extremely fair and had made no changes in the personnel of the various city departments who had been appointed by former Mayor Morris Block. Mayor Dempsey promised that if elected he would continue to give the taxpayers of the city a business administration. His remarks were greeted with applause. In closing the mayor also urged the whole-hearted support of Alderman-at-Large A. Ray Everett and the entire Republican ticket.

Among others who also spoke at the meeting were Judge Shufeldt, County Attorney Robert G. Groves, A. H. Cook and Herbert Thomas. All of the speakers emphasized the fact that the men who had been selected as the Republican party candidates this fall were clean, capable men.

The club will again meet next Thursday in Red Men's Hall.

Remus Pleads Not Guilty
Held For Grand Jury Without Bond and Requests That Case Be Taken Up as Soon as Possible—Spends Restless Night.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 7 (P).—George Remus, once millionaire bootlegger, who shot his wife, Imogene, fatally an hour before their divorce hearing yesterday morning, pleaded "not guilty" when arraigned for preliminary hearing today.

Remus was held for the grand jury without bond.

Remus waived examination before Judge William D. Alexander in municipal court on the charge of first degree murder.

The hearing occupied only a few minutes and Remus was returned to his cell.

He requested that the case be taken before the grand jury as soon as possible so that an indictment could be returned and the case entered for trial in common pleas court.

Remus spent a restless night in jail, police officers said.

"I feel as good as can be expected under the extremely trying circumstances," Remus answered to an inquiry.

Murder Stirs The Jugo Slavs
Belgrade, Jugo Slavia, Oct. 7 (P).—The Jugo Slav minister to Sofia has been authorized to inform the Bulgarian government that unless effective measures are taken to disband Bulgarian groups operating in Macedonia, the Jugo Slav government has no other course but to recall him and to break off diplomatic relations.

The protest over the activities of the Bulgarian committees, or irregulars, came as a result of the assassination yesterday of Brig-General Michael Kovachewitch, one of the best known officers in the Jugo Slav army at Istip, the crime being attributed to "comitadjis."

Widow and Beach Unmoved

Widow and Beach Unmoved
Indictment Charging Murder in The First Degree Is Returned Against Willis Beach and Mrs. Lillien Dahl May's Landing, N. J., Oct. 7 (P).—Mrs. Lillien Dahl, 40 year old widow of Dr. A. William Lillien Dahl, 65, and Willis Beach, 55, Vineland poultry farmer and reputed admirer of the woman, were in jail here today charged with the murder of the physician on a lonely road near here.

The arrest of Mrs. Lillien Dahl and Beach came yesterday at the court house while the grand jury listened to witnesses who previously had told of correspondence between Mrs. Lillien Dahl and Beach, and of quarrels between the physician and Beach.

The grand jury adjourned late at night without returning any finding although the return of true bills today was indicated in the action of the authorities in causing the arrests before the jury had ended its session for the night.

Beach and Mrs. Lillien Dahl betrayed little emotion when they heard the charges. Beach had to be aroused from a sound sleep in jail to hear the warrant charging murder read. "I didn't even know about the killing until the next day. On damn the warrant anyway," he flashed angrily as he turned back to bed.

Mrs. Lillien Dahl went to jail unmoved. "No, thank God," she said as authorities asked her if she had ever been arrested before.

An indictment charging murder in the first degree for the killing of Dr. A. William Lillien Dahl near Hammononton, September 15, was returned today against Mrs. Margaret Lillien Dahl, the slain physician's widow, and Willis Beach, her reputed friend.

CANADIAN AUTOIST FINED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING
William Courtney Reynolds of Brockville, Ontario, Canada, was arrested Thursday on Albany avenue extension by Ernest Drevos of Albany avenue extension. Drevos charged that Reynolds who was driving a Studebaker car crowded him off the road. He charged reckless driving and turned Reynolds over to Sergeant James Cunningham of the State Troopers. The defendant was arraigned before Justice of the peace Jennings at Lake Katrine and on a plea of guilty a fine of $15 was imposed and paid.

De la Huerta and Friend Shot Down

De la Huerta and Friend Shot Down
Body of Alfonso de la Huerta Brought Into Nogales and Exposed to View of the Population—Killed With Bullets.

Nogales, Sonora, Mex., Oct. 7 (P).—The body of Alfonso de la Huerta, brother of Adolfo de la Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico, was brought into this border city at 6 o'clock this morning.

The body was brought in on a far car by General Aguirre of the Mexican Federal army, who was sent with 100 men to hunt for de la Huerta yesterday when the latter was seen at Llaneros, sixty miles from here.

General Aguirre reported that he came upon de la Huerta and nine companions, one of whom was General Baron Medina, several miles east of Nogales. The other eight were Yaqui Indians.

De la Huerta and his officer companion gave battle and were literally riddled with bullets, according to Aguirre. The eight Indians fled at the approach of the federals.

De la Huerta's body wrapped in an oily tarpaulin, with the head uncovered, was taken to the Plaza where it was left exposed to the view of the populace.

Reports have been current at border points recently of plots against the life of Alfonso de la Huerta. He was reported captured and executed by Mexican troops two weeks ago. Most of the reports linked his name with an alleged movement to incite the Yaqui Indians to take the field against the Calles government.

Then came reports that he had been kidnapped and spirited across the international boundary. These rumors were confirmed by Adolfo de la Huerta at Los Angeles. Adolfo said he had first received reports of his brother's kidnapping Sunday last.

Adolfo said he was informed Alfonso was taken to the military prison at Nogales, where he was held incommunicado. When he was taken before a firing squad, Alfonso was said to have found the officer in command formerly had served under him when he was in the Mexican army. Instead of obeying orders the officer is alleged to have joined Alfonso in his escape as did the members of the firing squad.

Roosa Wins In Negligence Suit
Supreme Court Jury Returns Verdict of No Cause of Action in Auto Accident Suit—Disposition of Other Cases in Court.

No cases were ready at 10 o'clock this morning when court convened and Judge Hasbrouck adjourned court until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A verdict of no cause of action was returned by the jury in the negligence action brought by Mrs. Jessie A. Taylor, against Fred J. Roosa. The suit was for damages growing out of an automobile collision.

An inquiry taken in a personal injury action brought by Louis Smith of Highland against Grace Gros resulted in a verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $1,500. A. D. & A. W. Lent appeared for plaintiff.

A slander action brought by Julius and Johanna Schreimbayer against John McKee was dismissed without costs. A. J. Cook appeared for plaintiffs and V. E. Van Wageningen for defendant.

A jury was taken in a negligence action brought by Edward E. Cummings against John Mino and another. Before the case was opened the action was dismissed on its merits. William F. Purdy appeared for plaintiff and F. W. Brooks for defendant.

A day calendar was made up for Monday with the following cases: Nos. 315, 350, 351, 403, 411, 9, 14, 39, 40, 65, 66, 121, 122.

Patrolman Killed In Taxi Scuffle
Boston, Oct. 7 (P).—A patrolman off duty and in civilian clothes, John Condon, 28, was shot to death in a scuffle in a taxicab in a busy south end street today. His two companions were captured after a chase in which eight policemen and the taxi driver participated.

The men, George E. Barnett, 24, and Charles Foley, 26, both of the south end, were held without bail as suspicious characters for further questioning.

Yanks Lead 2 to 0

Yanks Lead 2 to 0
At End of Fifth

Yankees Clout Out Three Hits in First Inning—Gehrig Drives in The First Two Runs—Meadows Starts on Mound For Pirates, Opposing Herb Pennock.

Yankee Stadium, New York, Oct. 7 (P).—Fired by two successes over the Pirates in Pittsburgh, the New York Yankees came out for the opening world series games in New York today more than two hours before game time. The Yankees were evidently bent on getting in a little extra batting practice. They needed it in the first game of the series but hit well enough to win handsily yesterday.

The Yankees, despite their early appearance, found many of their friends to greet them. Before noon many patient persons who stood in line to buy unserved seats were sitting in them and saying between yawns "Come on, Ruth."

The big Babe, one of the first Yankees on the field, was given a big hand at sight and a great cheer when he went up to hit. The home run king drove the first ball Don Miller threw up against the right field barrier, the blast barely escaping home run territory. He did not get the ball out of the park on this time up but drove two terrific smashes into deep right center.

The Yankees had been at practice for nearly an hour when the Pirates came on the field. The visitors were given a lusty cheer, several of the athletes were called to the edge of the grandstand railing to shake hands with men and women from their home towns and others who were participating in world series ball games.

Manager Bush was standing pat on his selection of the veteran Lee Meadows to pitch for the Pirates with Johnny Gooch catching.

After the Pirates batting practice it was announced that a wrenched side would prevent the appearance of George Grantham in the game. Hal Ryne taking his place at second for Pittsburgh.

Pennock warmed up in the box while Meadows continued to work cut along the side lines. There was another delay as the moving picture men filmed Judge Landis as he sat in a box.

The Line-Ups

P. Waner up. The crowd gave P. Waner a big hand. Meusel came in to take P. Waner's fly. Pennock hit the ball on the plate during the inning.

No runs, no hits, no errors.
First inning, Yankees.
Combs up. Meadows warmed up a bit. Strike one called. This was a fast ball across the plate. Foul, strike two. Ball one, high. Foul, strike two. This was a liner into the left field stand and the crowd had to duck. Combs singled over the middle bag.

Koenig up. Foul, strike one. The hit and run play was on. Foul, strike two. Foul. Ball one, inside. Koenig got a single over Meadows' head. Combs stopping at second. It was a scratch hit which Rhyne could not field.

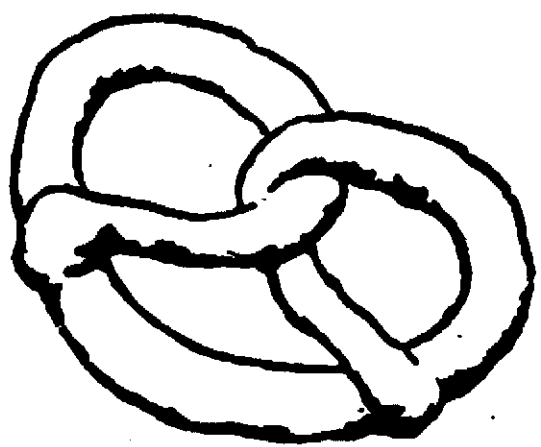

Ruth up. Strike one, called. Ball one, outside. Babe sent up a high one to Wright.
Gehrig up. Combs and Koenig scored on Gehrig's three base hit to left but Gehrig was thrown out at the plate, the play being Barnhart to L. Waner to Wright to Gooch.
Meusel up. Strike one. Foul, strike two. Ball one, outside. Meusel struck out swinging for the third strike.

Two runs, three hits, no errors.
Second inning, Pirates.
Wright up. Foul, strike one. Combs took Wright's short fly.

Traynor up. Ball one inside. Strike one called. This was a drive on the outside corner. Strike two called, a curve cutting inside corner of the plate. Foul. Lazzeri

Bite yourself an Alphabet

A Pretzeleer can bite in any station

You know how it is. The battery is all tired out. And static is sticky. And you can't tune the soprano out and the prize fight in. But why worry? Be a pretzeleer. Get yourself a plate of O-So-Guds and bite your own station. Like this:

N.B.C.

An expert tooth dialer can bite in any station from Maine to California—bite it in, and eat it out.

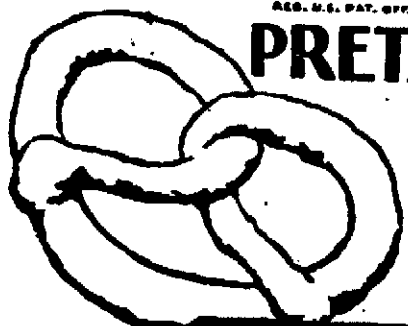

And any pretzeleer will be glad to broadcast this: O-So-Gud Pretzels are good to eat—crisp, crunchy, salty.

Eat them at any meal. They give zest to soup, zip to salad and both zip and zest to sweet desserts. You absolutely need them with the clinking glass of something cool to drink.

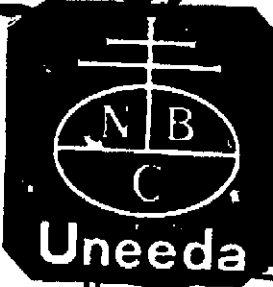

Children like pretzels between meals. That's good. Who says so? Doctors say so! O-So-Guds are very easy to digest.

O-So-Gud Pretzels are worth their weight in pretzels. Many folks think they're worth more. It's because they're made by the Unceda Bakers.

Saratoga Pageant Full of Action

Over Six Thousand Residents of Neighboring Communities to Participate in Historical Pageant on Famous Battlefield on Saturday Afternoon.

Schuylerville, N. Y., Oct. 6, (AP)—Trim little villages of the Upper Hudson Valley are making theatricals with silo filling this week as they make final preparations for their parts in the historical pageant which their residents are to present on the Saratoga battlefield Saturday afternoon in commemoration of the victory won there by the Americans just 150 years ago.

On a spacious meadow near the Great Ravine, where General Poor thrust back the British, 6,200 citizens of Schuylerville, Bemis Heights, Stillwater, the city of Saratoga Springs and other communities in the battle area will re-enact the warfare of Gates and Burgoyne and will portray in colorful symbolism the spirit of the American Revolution.

The hillside immediately in front of the natural stage have been fitted with seats to accommodate the distinguished guests from other states and nations and the thousands of spectators who are expected to witness the production. Percy Jewett Burrell, the pageant director, says it is the largest pageant field ever utilized in this country, if not in the world, for the forestage, on which the action will take place measures 580 by 275 feet.

Two Vital Phases Revealed.

A sketch of the pageant, made public today, reveals that the spectacle will depict two vital phases of the Revolutionary period: the first explains graphically how the colonists came to take up arms, while the second is a representation of the Burgoyne campaign.

The first of the six episodes is entitled "A New Soul in the Making" and is a series of symbolic dances given by professional dancers and young women selected from the nearby towns. The second episode, "A New Mind in the Making," carries forward the introduction by a procession, "The March of Conscience," showing in picturesque costume the early settlers who came to America in quest of freedom. The climax of this scene is rendered by a chorus of 1,000 voices in a song, "Adventurers' Hymn," written for the occasion by Tertius Van Dyck to music by Elmer A. Tidmarsh, director of the choristers. Episode Three, "A New Spirit in the Making," covers the period between 1754 and 1776, and opens with the Albany Congress of the former year when Benjamin Franklin made his famous plea for union and freedom. Active resistance to the Stamp Act and the Tea Tax is portrayed in this scene by the stoning of British soldiers and by the raising of the Liberty Pole. Then follow the meeting of the New York Provincial Convention on April 20, 1775, in New York city, the meeting of the first Provincial Congress in New York city during June, 1775, the arrival of Washington in the city and the reading of the Declaration of Independence to the continental troops on July 9, 1776.

Re-enact Burgoyne Campaign.

Episode Four re-enacts the Burgoyne Campaign. Its background is pictured by the London conference at which General Burgoyne, Lord George Sackville, Germain and the King plot the movement of the British armies from the north, west and south against Albany. Then the scene shifts to Schuyler and the home of Mrs. Philip Schuyler, wife of the general. Alarmed by the rapid approach of the British, she orders her household to See to Albany while she herself burns the wheat fields on the estate to prevent their falling into the hands of the enemy.

The next action is laid at General Schuyler's headquarters at Stillwater. The American officers decide, upon the advice of Arnold and Kocziusko, to advance to Bemis Heights, and Schuyler relinquishes the command of the army to Gates. Burgoyne's "council on horseback" follows, showing the British commander and his staff discussing their critical situation after the first battle of Saratoga, fought on September 19, 1777.

Guardmen Parade Climax.

The climax of the drama, a representation of the decisive battle of October 7, will be furnished by national guardmen who, with thirty rounds of ammunition in their belts, will execute the movements of the rival enemies. Fifteen hundred men under Burgoyne, Phillips, Riedesel and Fraser, with their artillery, move from the northeast toward the Great Ravine. Gates orders Morgan to make a circuit to the west and strike the enemy on the flank; General Poor with his brigade is sent against the left flank; Learned's brigade and Dearborn's riflemen are pitted against the left center; and Morgan's riflemen are given their assignment.

Poor's men descend into the Great Ravine to meet the British. They are well up before the enemy fires a tremendous volley of musketry and cannon, but the aim of the British is too high. Poor advances in open order and forming again on their flanks, Poor's men now down the grenadiers. They charge and a hand-to-hand conflict ensues, first one side then the other gaining. One 12-pounder is taken and retaken six times. Major Williams is taken prisoner. Major Ackland seriously wounded. The British flee, seized with panic as they lose their leaders, while Colonel Cillet of New Hampshire leaps upon the gun and having "sworn it true to the cause of America," turns it upon the fleeing British.

The scene shifts to the dashing encounter between Morgan and Fraser and the daring Fraser's horse is shot from under him and he, himself, is killed in a few seconds by a bullet from one of Morgan's riflemen.

The battle rages back and forth until Arnold, mounted upon a spirited bay, rushes into the fray and leads a furious charge against the Germans under Breymann. Breymann is killed and Arnold wounded.

The surrender of Burgoyne and his army at Schuylerville follow in Episode Five while the last episode, "A New Soul in the Making," reverts to symbolism.

Do you want to save money on house paint?

Let us tell you how the spreading test proves the value of Devoe Lead and Zinc House Paint

OVER and over again, by this simple spreading test, practical painters and scientific laboratories have found that Devoe Lead and Zinc House Paint possesses superior covering and spreading capacity.

Because it covers better, spreads farther, and lasts longer, it is the most economical paint you can use. Some other paints cost less than Devoe per gallon, but no other costs as little per job.

Jessie M. Cowley Wins Scholarship

Local Girl Successfully Passes Voice Test at Juilliard School of Music in New York—She Was One of the Stars of Kewanna Kapers.

Miss Jessie M. Cowley of Hoffman street has been awarded a scholarship in the Juilliard School of Music in New York city, after successfully passing a voice test before a committee of well known musical artists. Musical students from all parts of the United States seek these scholarships and the fact that Miss Cowley was one of those selected from some five hundred and fifty applicants speaks highly of her ability.

The faculty of the school include such well known musicians as Miss. Marcell Sembrich, Miss. Anna E. Schoen Rame, Paul Reubens, Paul Kachmann, Miss. Rosina Lheriane, Miss. Olga Samoroff, and it was before this group of musicians that Miss Cowley was called upon to sing. Miss Cowley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cowley of No. 22 Hoffman street, and she is widely known in Kingston as a soprano soloist. Her recent work with the Kewanna Kapers will be easily recalled by those who attended. Miss Cowley is soprano soloist at Trinity M. E. Church, and for the past three years she has been a student with Miss Virginia Los Kamp. Her many friends will be pleased to learn of her success in winning the scholarship.

Executed for Revolt

General Francisco Serrano, leader of revolt over Mexican presidential elections, was ordered shot and killed with 13 of his lieutenants. Government claims executions ended rebellion.

Courts Uphold Cow's Right to Costly Path

Chicago has a $2,000,000 monument to a cow in the form of a 22-story office building. A clause in the deed of the site of the new building necessitated a clever bit of cantilever construction in order to have the upper 21 stories 10 feet wider than the first floor.

It seems that years ago a Doctor Bassett owned the site and an adjoining site upon which he had his cow barn. The former became desirable for business, but the doctor would not sell it unless it was stipulated in the deed that a ten-foot strip along the west end of the lot be kept perpetually free for passage, so that his cow could travel back and forth to pasture freely. Despite the fact that several attempts have been made to nullify the clause, the courts uphold it. Thus Chicago's claim of being the only city respecting the humble cow with a $2,000,000 tribute.—Pathfinder Magazine.

THE RESCUE

"I am going to tell you a really true story," said Daddy, "something which happened today."

"I was walking along a rather poor part of the city when I saw a number of children gathered in a group on a little street just off a main road."

"The children were screaming to one boy:

"Oh, catch him! Don't let the awful cat get him!"

"Oh, was it a bird?" asked Nick eagerly.

"Yes," replied Daddy, "it was a bird, but not just the usual kind of bird that is seen around city streets, for only the sparrows like the noise of a city."

"Most birds like the woods and the country, where they can have homes in the trees and can sing all day long."

"But this was a tame yellow canary who had flown out of an open window to pick up some goodies he saw on the ground, and a cat was after him."

"Did they get him from the cat?" asked Nancy eagerly, for she was devoted to animals and perhaps especially to birds.

"Yes," answered Daddy, "the little boy succeeded in rescuing him, but the poor canary had been so frightened that his little heart was beating, oh, so fast, and the children were afraid he was not going to live."

"They all followed the little boy, who had caught the canary just in time, into the tenement house."

"The cat had knocked several feathers from the bird's tail."

"Another child told me the canary belonged to a little girl who lived in the tenement."

"He asked me to follow, too, for he said that the little girl had trouble with her back and had to lie flat all the time."

"She loved visitors, for so much of the time she was lonely."

"Her mother was poor and out all day sewing, so often the little girl's only companion was the canary, who would sing for hours and hours."

"He seemed to know he must keep her cheered up."

"So along I went, too. We climbed some stairs until we came to a dingy room where on a cot by the window lay a little girl about eight years old."

"She had big dark eyes, and when I saw her, her cheeks were bright red from all the excitement."

"All her friends had gathered around, each giving her a special description of how the bird had been rescued."

"She was smiling with joy and watching the bird, who was now busily engaged pecking at a little piece of apple which had been given him."

"Before long he began to sing, oh, so joyously, for he knew he was once more back in his happy home, where he would take good care to stay in the future."

"I told the little girl of my Nick and Nancy, and she said she wanted to see you both."

"Shall we all go to see her and her little bird some day?"

"We'd love to," cried Nick and Nancy delightedly.

The Little Boy Succeeded.

"Yes," answered Daddy, "the little boy succeeded in rescuing him, but the poor canary had been so frightened that his little heart was beating, oh, so fast, and the children were afraid he was not going to live."

"They all followed the little boy, who had caught the canary just in time, into the tenement house."

The Vly school was closed on Thursday and Friday, as the teacher, Miss Theresa Costello, attended conference in Kingston.

Those who attended school regularly for the month of September were Clara Ketzlich, Hazel Christiana and Joseph Ketzlich.

Miss Caroline Wroslsen has returned home after being employed at Gabrielson's boarding house for the summer.

Mrs. Joseph Ketzlich and daughter, Clara, called on Mrs. Mark McCormick Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Christiana, daughter, Hazel, and sons Everett and Bernard, and Walter Moeller visited McCormick's Sunday.

Many from this place attended the ball game in Olive Bridge Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Trowbridge and Mrs. E. C. Robson and daughter, Mabel, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. P. Davies at Lyonsville.

Mrs. Ada Bush has returned home after spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Marshall, at Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wurster and son, George, Jr., who sold their place here, went to West New York, N. J., to live.

A very pleasant day was spent at the home of Mrs. Charles Krom on Thursday last. Those present were Mrs. George Wurster, Mrs. Moses Van Demark, Mrs. James Palen, Mrs. Joseph Ketzlich, Mrs. Korman and sister and Miss LaVerne Palen, Miss Ethel Krom, Mrs. Elizabeth Trowbridge, Mrs. Charles Krom and Mrs. Emma Krom.

Mrs. Elizabeth Trowbridge was the guest of Mrs. James Palen on Tuesday.

Mrs. Theodore Palen and daughter, LaVerne, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orr E. Christiana at Lyonsville on Tuesday last.

Church service this Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, October 9.

Mrs. Elizabeth Trowbridge was the guest of Mrs. James Palen, Tuesday.

Mrs. Theodore Palen and daughter, land visited his brother, E. R. Kinney, here, who with his wife accompanied them to their home in Rutland, Vt., visiting two sisters at Cambridge and New York en route and at Plymouth, Vt., the home of President Coolidge.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church of Shokan met at the home of Mrs. Charles O. Davis Wednesday afternoon. After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Will Green and Mrs. C. Davis were hostesses.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. Church held their annual banquet at the church hall Thursday when the election of officers took place.

They named the baby Thomas, after his Uncle Bill.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"STEREOTYPED"

"O. H. THE same old thing again—styles are getting so 'stereotyped'!" a remark overheard on a street car, where two women were discussing the season's fashions. It is becoming quite common in everyday speech to use the word "stereotyped" as a synonym for the conventional, the "cut and dried," and the term is accepted in quite good usage, though the dictionary does not sanction this significance.

The term comes to us from the parlance of the printing-room. Before "copy," as material to be printed is called, can be turned out the type has to be "set" or composed—that is, the letters must be assembled into words and the words into the sentences and paragraphs, as they are to be "run off." This composing is the most expensive element of the procedure because it takes so much time. Therefore, when it is known that certain material is subsequently to be run off several times, that future editions will be required, the pages are "stereotyped," a process by which the composed or set type is cast into one piece. In this way it can be kept and re-used and the time and labor of re-setting are saved.

When we stop to consider that a page that is stereotyped admits of not the slightest change, but remains always the same, it is easily comprehensible how the term came to be used with its popular significance in common speech.

Lipsticks Make Trouble

Managers of Atlantic City hotels say that their maintenance costs have increased enormously because women use so much lipstick and other cosmetics. The women, according to the managers, not only use napkins, bath and face towels to wipe off the lipstick, but also empty handkerchiefs on occasion. And the lipstick is so strong that cleaning agents are necessary to restore the goods to their pristine whiteness.

Faith Needed

One of the needs of our time is to have the simple faith of our fathers poured into a twentieth-century world. We need the old-fashioned religion—but dressed in a free and flowing robe and not in the strait-jacket in which the bigots would encase it. We need more people who can say "Our Father Who Art in Heaven," and really believe it.—Marie Crowell in the American Magazine.

Sunflower Specialty

The Bureau of Plant Industry says that it is not uncommon for a sunflower to produce double flowers. The species can be perpetuated by planting the seeds of the double-flowered plant. While every flower will not be double, there will be an increased number. This has been worked out by botanists in the past and seed for double-flowered sunflowers are now on the market.

HOME SERVICE MEETING AT KERHONKSON TUESDAY

The Central Hudson home service program will be continued next Tuesday, October 11, at 2:30 o'clock in the Kerhonsk office. These lessons, instead of meeting bi-monthly as originally planned, will be held once a month on the second Tuesday.

The subject to be demonstrated next Tuesday by Miss Nellie Davenport, home service director, will be "Light Breads."

While baking bread has to a large extent passed from the home to the community baker, there are many fancy variations of bread which are expensive to buy and which can easily be baked at home at small cost.

Different types of rolls, special luncheon and breakfast breads with the inimitable "Homemade" flavor, add a new zest to the menu. Miss Davenport will explain the basic principles underlying the successful handling of yeast-doughs and will show how to vary plain bread-dough into many varieties of fancy breads.

Printed recipes are given out at each class and the food prepared during the class sessions are served to those in attendance. These classes are made available without charge to women of Kerhonsk and neighboring communities.

Canada's Tariff Board Kept Busy

Reports Come for Both Upward and Downward Revision from Manufacturers and Consumers—Thorough Investigation of Facts Follows.

Ottawa, Oct. 7. (A.)—Canada's Tariff Advisory Board has received reports for revision of Federal customs duties, excise or sales taxes on various commodities from every province in the Dominion.

In formal in the conduct of its public sittings, the board has under review a wide range of the entire Canadian customs tariff structure since its organization 18 months ago. From requests for the upward revision of the woolen schedules, the anthracite screenings and coke schedules and the downward revision of duty on bituminous coal, and the cotton and sugar schedules, consideration has been given to such comparative reports as applications respecting epson salts, beerwax, oil for collars and rope for deep sea fishing.

Manufacturers, farmers, consumers and a diversity of other classes file their applications with the board for investigation and consideration. Only recently a request for a reduction on wheel chairs entering Canada from the United States was received from a bed-ridden and aged woman residing on the Canadian prairies. "Crutches for lame men enter Canada free of duty, artificial legs for legless men enter this country free of duty, why should not wheel chairs for invalids likewise be placed on the free list?" she wrote. Her plea is under advisement.

At each public sitting of the board, farmer and consumer are represented. On behalf of the former, an officer of the Canadian Council of Agriculture is present, while in the interests of the consumer, a representative of the Consumers' League participates in the discussion on each application. Representatives of interests outside of Canada, who would be indirectly affected by the raising or lowering of the tariff, are frequently also holding "watching briefs."

Under Chairman W. H. Moore and his colleagues, Alfred Lambert and D. C. McKenzie, the board acts in a purely advisory capacity to the government. In the first instance, all applications must be made to the minister of finance, J. A. Robb. The request is perused, and, if the minister sees fit, it is passed to the board for full inquiry. The board then sets a date for the public hearing, the date of which is broadcast throughout the Dominion. Following the hearing, a personal investigation of the facts alleged by the applicants and those opposing the application is often made, through special experts and accountants' examinations are placed before the minister of finance for guidance and final decision by the government.

The Terms of the Will

By CLARISSA MACKIE

HELEN ROCKWELL faced her father. Her eyes shone like steady lamps, blue and shining.

"My dear," said Mr. Rockwell with a wry smile on his good-looking face, "of course I am not trying to urge you to accept the terms of your Uncle Taylor's will. But—your Uncle Taylor did have your future in mind, and wanted to do something personal for you, he named you as the chief beneficiary in his will. But the fact that he has decided that you must marry the man whom he selects in order to benefit by the will—rather muddles the whole thing."

"It does, father."

"Now, Helen, you must not let the matter of Uncle Taylor's will trouble you at all. You can simply decline to marry the man that he suggested—who is he, anyway?"

"Bertrand Lawrence," returned Helen.

"Who is Bertrand Lawrence?"

Before Helen could tell him that she, of course, did not know, there was a telephone call for Mr. Rockwell. He was gone for five minutes, and when he returned there was a baffled look on his face.

"It was old Hilton, the lawyer—telling me rather funny news."

"Yes?"

"It seems that young Lawrence—Bertrand Lawrence—has disappeared—sent them a letter asking that his name be withdrawn in the matter of the Taylor Marsh will!"

"Withdrawn!" exclaimed Helen, her cheeks flushing hotly.

"And that, my dear, leaves you to inherit all the money! You know the will stipulates that if either party objects to the union, the entire sum is to become the property of the other."

"How disgusting! Why, dad, I cannot believe that Uncle Taylor could make such a silly will. I do not want his money. I am sorry to refuse it, but really, I think he should have left it to his Cousin Penbody's family—they are all growing up and need a lot of help."

Then Helen told him about her invitation from a college friend to spend a month in the North woods.

"They have a lovely camp there, and it would be jolly, dad," she ended.

Mr. Rockwell had no objection to this plan, and it was a week later when Helen Rockwell arrived at the Channings' camp in the North woods.

Helen was rather tired after her journey, but the lure of the woods beckoned and after luncheon, when the family separated for sleas in the breeze-swept bedrooms, Helen stole out for a little walk among the beckoning tall trees, and down the narrow trails a glimmer with maze of leaf and shadow. Here and there she wandered, and when she came to the boundary of the Channing place, indicated by high barbed wire fencing, she found a clink to squeeze through and at last found herself in the virgin forest.

"It will be so easy to find my way back," she told herself. "There is that lightning-struck tree, and the three pines!"

But she did lose them within ten minutes, following a meandering brook where purple violets grew on the mossy, dripping brink, and it was right on this spot that she sat down, and fell asleep.

Helen awoke and went back toward the Channing camp, but after she had tramped for hours she discovered that she was entirely lost! After awhile she found herself back at the brook-side and she decided to follow the little stream. She followed the stream down instead of up, and at sunset, she knew she was truly lost. She was near a group of four hemlocks that grew close together, and Helen had just decided that she would spend the night hidden among them, when the branches shook and out walked a perfectly splendid specimen of young manhood.

"Perhaps you can show me the way," said Helen wearily. "I have wandered away from the Channing camp and I am quite lost."

"Certainly," said the stranger, tossing his book back among the hemlocks. "Wouldn't you like something to eat first? You must be hungry and very tired."

"Yes, thank you," said Helen, and she ate bread and cheese, sandwiches and drank a bottle of ginger ale. If she had known how pretty she looked as she sat there, she would have blushed deeper than she did when she met the eyes of the stranger.

Long before they reached the wire fence of the Channing place, they heard the sounds of gun shots, and just as Helen dropped at his feet they heard the shouts of men. Lanterns waved in the far distance, and then the stranger cut a hole in the wire fence and crept through. When they reached the house and he gave Helen into the care of Mrs. Channing, they surrounded him in surprise.

"Why, Bert Lawrence! We heard that you had become a hermit or something—you must stay here for the night, anyway, and meet Helen Rockwell."

So Bertrand stayed and the Channings witnessed the most beautiful love story revealed as the days flew by—and this is the real reason why the terms of Uncle Taylor's will were carried out after all.

Period of Non-Progress.
The term "Dark Ages" generally describes the earlier centuries of the Middle Ages, the period between ancient and modern history. Hutton regards the Dark Ages as beginning with the Sixth century and ending with the Fifteenth.

The White Man's Burden

That is the title of a famous poem written by Rudyard Kipling and first published in 1899. Each stanza of the poem begins with the line "Take up the white man's burden." The phrase now refers to the supposed responsibility of the white race for the moral and physical welfare of all the dark races of the world.—Hartford Magazine.

Has a Fine Home

The mining caterpillar need not leave its mine. Within the leaf there is found protection as well as food, says Nature Magazine. The epidermal layers are transparent, they allow the sun to warm the naked worm. They are tough, because the skin cannot break the leaf's surface. Thus the caterpillar would not be torn apart by the winds of the air.

Better Relations Bring Business

Public Utilities Must Cultivate Better Relations With Customers in Order to Secure Larger Volume of Business, Says George B. Cortelyou.

Lake Placid, N. Y., Oct. 7.—The public utility way to prosperity and good will lies through service, said George B. Cortelyou, president of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York, in addressing the annual meeting of the Empire State Gas and Electric Association here today.

"The utility whose management has a belittling sense of public duty," asserted Mr. Cortelyou, "finds that in fulfilling that duty it is also adding to the right side of its balance sheet; that so far from suffering a penalty it is reaping a reward."

Pointing out that utilities were overcoming the "psychological handicap of old prejudices and habits of thought" due to their having a monopoly of furnishing service, the speaker added:

"In casting our eyes toward the future we cannot envisage a return to the era of competition in the utility field because that has been tried and rejected by the acid test of experience. Short of outright municipal ownership and operation—which has failed by the same test—there remains but one alternative—private ownership and operation coupled with public control. That is our present system, and it is through it that we must work out the solution of our problems. Whatever its shortcomings, the remedy is not to abandon the system but to improve it."

Even the most efficient regulation, Mr. Cortelyou said, cannot always insure thoroughly satisfactory service.

It is the level, Supreme Aim.

"It will, of course," he continued, "prevent service from falling below a minimum level; but there will always be an area corresponding to what engineers call the 'limit of endurance'—that is, in case of any given utility its service may vary from the best that is humanly possible to that which is just good enough to 'get by.' To raise that level should be the supreme aim of every utility, for only by lifting it higher and ever higher can it wipe out the last vestige of popular prejudice and intrench itself.

BATH ROOM

THAT'S THE SUBJECT OF OUR ADVERTISEMENT TODAY.

The day of plain white bath rooms is past. They are out of date. Bath rooms now are to be in colors; bright colored wood work; fancy tiled walls; inlaid linoleum floors; which leads us to say that we have some very beautiful Armstrong's linoleum in soft shades of green and blue, ivory and terra cotta, in the Mosaic effects, running in price from $2.50 to $3.00 per sq. yd. and other lighter grades from $1.25 to $2.00 per sq. yd. Estimates Given Without Extra charge.

Gregory & Co.

In the good will of the public. This is the counsel not only of experience but of justice.

"Above and beyond regulation, then, must be the utility's sense of public obligation. If this is lacking, its service will tend to sink to the lowest permissible level. It will be good enough, perhaps, to secure official condemnation but not good enough to win the highest public approval. It may be a passing mark but it will not graduate with honor. Fortunately, such cases are rare, as rare as an exceptional. The public utility industry as a whole is permeated with a lively sense of responsibility for maintaining a high standard of service and is marshalling all its resources to increase technical efficiency on the one hand and improve relations with its customers—the public—on the other.

"Unable to increase net earnings by the simple expedient of increasing prices, the utility must concentrate on other means of attaining this end. It must build up a larger volume of business. This it can only do by cultivating better relations with its customers, by developing new means of utilization, by taking advantage of all factors that make for economies in production and distribution, by increasing the usefulness of its product in the hands of the ultimate consumer."

LEIBHARDT.

Leibhardt, Oct. 6.—Preaching services will be held next Wednesday evening, October 12, in the M. E. Church at 7:30 o'clock conducted by the Rev. Mr. Cooley.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Hornbeck on Wednesday afternoon, October 5. A social and supper is being planned to be held soon.

Mr. A. R. Hall Davis and little son, Richard, have returned to the home of her parents after spending a few days in New York city.

The congregation of the M. E. Church wish to thank through the columns of The Freeman all those who so kindly donated money and funds toward painting the church.

What! Lunch in a cement mill?

A party of prominent engineers, contractors and building material dealers recently visited the mill which supplies us with Lone Star Cement. When the noon whistle blew the visitors were told that lunch would be served in the raw-grinding department. "What?"—was the exclamation—"Eat food snowed under by cement dust?" But there wasn't a speck of dust anywhere!

Such cleanliness reflects high standards of efficiency. It is not surprising to find that Lone Star Cement sets a new high standard of cement quality and uniformity. Building materials such as this are our stock in trade. They are your assurance of satisfaction.

Dance at St. Peter's Hall.

One of the big social events of the season, especially arranged for the young people, will be the autumn dance, under the auspices of the Children of Mary of St. Peter's Church, which will be held on Monday night, October 24. The big crowds always noted at St. Peter's Hall will tell everyone where to enjoy themselves. There will be good music furnished, commencing at 8 p. m., on one of the best dance floors in the city. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

Sun, Moon and Stars

The sun lights this world from without, shines in at a window, but the moon is like a lamp within an apartment. It shines for us. The stars themselves make a more visible, and hence a nearer and more domestic, roof at night. Nature broods us and has not left our germs of thought to be hatched by the sun. We feel her heat and see her body darkening over us. Our thoughts are not dissipated but come back to us like an echo.—Thoreau.

SPORTS CLOTHES FURNISH A TEST—THEY SHOULD BE ADAPTED TO THE OCCASION.

New York.—It is often said that the test of a gentleman is his ability to wear evening clothes. It has also been said, with as great an element of truth, that the test of a lady is her ability to wear sports clothes. After all, it is not much of a trick for the average good-you will agree, are more trying, and not only because they are viewed in that most trying of settings, sunlight.

There has come about with the great interest the world at large takes in outdoor activities, a greater appreciation of the type of clothes intended for such occasions. The best-dressed girl at the football game is not the one that strolls around the gridiron in elaborate things, but the one that is smartly and appropriately dressed.

A loose-fitting coat of heavy plaid woolen, as shown in the accompanying sketch, is far more effective than an elaborately fur-trimmed velvet or broadcloth, because it is related, by the sturdiness of its fabric and color, to the occasion. It may be fur lined, although there is a more or less justifiable prejudice against fur linings because of their tendency toward clumsiness.

Good-looking wool hose, and either a felt hat or one of tweed, in the manner of Rose Descat, is a smarter choice than velvet for sports wear, although velvet sports dresses must be given credit for dominating the scene.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Simple Popular Style.

5877. Linen, jersey, flannel or tub silk could be used for this design. The sleeves may be in wrist length, or short as shown in the large view.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. An 8 year size if made with short sleeves will require 2 yards of 36 inch material together with 1/4 yard of contrasting material for facing on belt. If made with long sleeves, 2 1/4 yards will be required. To trim as illustrated in the large view requires 2 1/4 yards of flat braid or ribbon.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notes.
Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Spring and Summer 1927 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies' misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Utterly Chic!

Vain, indeed, the attempt to describe these utterly bewitching afternoon frocks! For who can put into words the intangible loveliness of flaring satin, the jaunty twitter of new pleats, the perkiness of bows, and the triumphs that are their necklines?

Who can describe the autumnal gold of chestnut brown, the delight of maroon, the warmth of pampie? Full appreciation can only come upon seeing this exquisite collection, and the low prices at which they are being offered.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(C. 1927, Western Newspaper Union.)

"The happy life may be poor in externals. It may have many restrictions, and many privations, but, if it enshrines the pure in heart, the power of loving, serving, and sacrificing, it is beautiful in contrast to the worldly life of pleasure that finds no peace or rest in the soul itself, only hectic activity like that of a cloud of insects that will die and leave no trace of the great interest of the world."

WAYS WITH TAPIOCA

Tapioca is not half well enough appreciated as a dessert. It is especially inviting when combined with fruit of various kinds.

Apple Tapioca.—Take one-half cupful of the minute tapioca, one-half teaspoonful of salt and a cupful of sugar with three cupfuls of boiling water. Cook until the tapioca is transparent, then pour it into a well-greased baking dish and cover the top with peeled and quartered apples. Bake until the apples are done. Serve hot or cold with sugar and cream.

Peach Tapioca.—Use a half dozen or more of fresh ripe peaches or canned ones, sprinkle with sugar to sweeten, then stand one hour. To one cupful of tapioca add three cupfuls of boiling water, one-half cupful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Cook until the tapioca is transparent. The peach juice from the can may be used in the cooking. Line a mold with the peaches, fill with the tapioca and bake thirty minutes. Serve with cream.

Tapioca Rabbit.—Cut fine one cupful of rich cheese, add it to a pint of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of mustard, dash of red pepper and two tablespoonfuls of minute tapioca. Cook until thick in a double boiler and just before serving add a well beaten egg. Serve on toast or crackers.

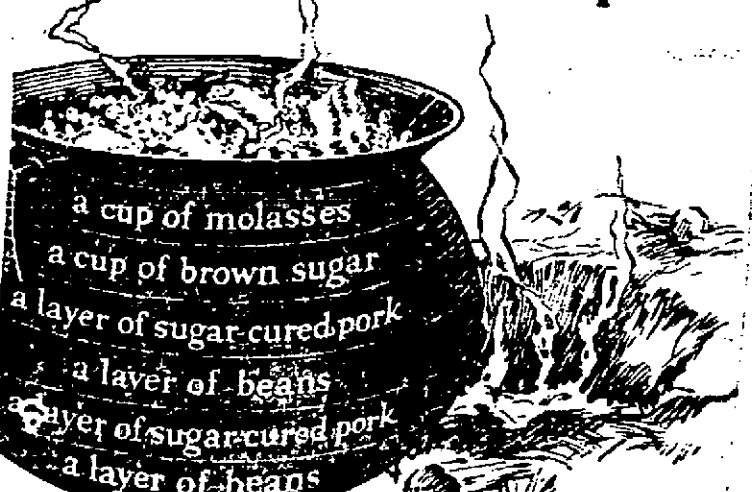

Tapioca Custard.—Soak two-thirds of a cupful of tapioca one hour in cold water, drain and add four cupfuls of scalded milk and cook in a double boiler for half an hour. Beat three eggs slightly, add one-half cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and pour on gradually the hot mixture. Turn into a buttered baking dish, add a tablespoonful of butter and bake thirty minutes in a slow oven.

Safety From Lightning

The weather bureau says that inside a steel frame building, a reinforced concrete building, or a house with properly installed lightning rods, is a safe place to be during a thunderstorm. Inside a house of any kind, and well away from the walls, is better than being out in the open. Especially dangerous places are close to a wire fence, under a tall tree, and on the top of a hill.

Experts Expect Quick Finish to The 1927 Classic

Buccaneers' Boldness Missing in First Series Games—Pirates Allowed Seven Hits and Held the Pirates to Two Runs—Return to New York.

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—The New York Yankees came home today with one-half of the world championship won. They may never win the other half, but they brought two games with them from Pittsburgh and several trainloads of experts who expect a quick finish to the 1927 classic. Four victories are necessary to win the title extending over all baseball playing territory.

The National League pennant winners have not begun to win and their play in the first two games has suggested that they have not begun to fight. The boldness that brought the Buccaneers home in front in a hectic closing struggle in the senior league has been missing from their makeup in the opening games played before a sympathetic crowd of home-folk friendly enough until the name of Kiki Cuyler, the outfielder who has stood in the corner with a duck cap on his head, is mentioned.

Both games in Pittsburgh provoked outbursts against Manager Bush's policy in keeping Cuyler out of the game. For that reason he may welcome the change of scenery to New York. The throng at the Yankee stadium this afternoon does not care whether Cuyler plays or autographs baseballs, his principal occupation at Forbes Field.

Yanks Didn't Need Help.

The Yankees needed the help of the Pirates in winning the first game but they made their own arrangements to capture the second. The Pirates were willing to contribute some timely assistance yesterday and did help here and there, but the Yanks would have won anyway. In the opening game the American Leaguers had to call out the reserves to win the game but in the second set, the starting lineup finished strong.

George Pinellas, who has been a chafed of the Yankees off and on, mostly off, for five years, did the job yesterday that Hoyt and Moore accomplished between them the day before. The Pirates adopted opposing tactics. Where the Yanks introduced a sliding scale of pitching numbers, coming down from two to one, the Pirates went up, using three yesterday against two Wednesday.

Vict Aldridge was in and out in his pitching and was finally out altogether in the eighth inning when he turned the situation over to Mike Cuyler with the bases full and only one out. Two of the three runners, coming down from two to one, the Pirates went up, using three yesterday against two Wednesday.

George Pinellas, native of Iowa, but resident of Minnesota, struck a powerful blow for the middleweight and placed himself squarely in line to be considered as a world's series hero through his great pitching.

Pinellas, who had to wait a long time to get his world series chance—he will be 28 years old Christmas week—showed the Pirates a fast ball with such a good hop on it they never did get the combination for hitting it. He gave only seven hits and two runs to the Corsairs, the seven hits being distributed throughout as many innings. The two runs were scored through the medium of sacrifice flies. On after a triple and the other following a base on balls and a single.

Olympics of 1928 Give Borah Chance at Paddock

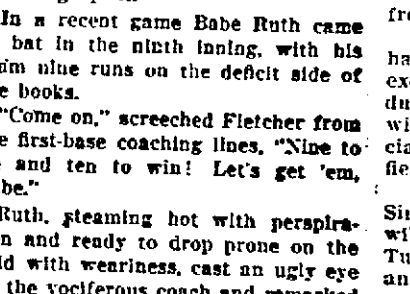

Charles Borah, southern California's sprinting sensation, has a definite purpose in view in directing his attention to the 1928 Olympics in Amsterdam, Holland, next summer. He is anxious to settle the question which has been trying through sportsdom concerning his 100-yard races with Charles Paddock and Chester Bowman. Borah will get a shot at both at the same time at the next Olympiad.

When in 1926 Paddock was given the decision over Borah in a questionable 100-yard race, Paddock and not Borah got credit for a 9.5 seconds hundred. "Hard luck," the fans said. A world's record is a big thing to lose by a narrow margin.

And then Borah figured in a 9.6 seconds century at the A. A. U. championships. Although Borah was first announced as winner, a 2-to-1 vote by judges gave not only the gold medal, but a tie for the A. A. U. record to Bowman. A few years hence fans will see only Bowman's name in the books and forget about the close race.

Paddock and Bowman both placed at the 1924 meet. They, with Borah, will probably be in the 1928 affair. There will be no previous meeting between them.

Has "Winning Spirit"

Art Fletcher, former fiery Giant shortstop and Philly manager, who is now coaching for the Yanks, has always been known as possessing a real "winning spirit."

In a recent game Babe Ruth came to bat in the ninth inning, with his team blue runs on the deficit side of the books.

"Come on," screamed Fletcher from the first-base coaching lines, "Nine to tie and ten to win! Let's get 'em, Babe."

Ruth, gleaming hot with perspiration and ready to drop prone on the field with weariness, cast an ugly eye on the vociferous coach and remarked pointedly, "That guy has been out in the sun too long."

Olympic Club Players to Meet Californians

Former University of California football stars will play against their alma mater when the Olympic club of San Francisco faces the California varsity on October 22. Among these ex-Californians are Jimmy Dixon, crack halfback, and John Sargeant and Ed Giddings, stalwart guards, all of whom played on last year's Golden Bear machine.

The annual contest between the California varsity and the Olympic club has assumed increasing importance each year, especially since 1925, when the clubmen handed the Golden Bears their first defeat since 1919.

This year's game will witness the unusual occurrence of a former club player performing in a California uniform. The player in question is Lee Eskin, clever quarterback, who led the Olympic club to its victory over the Golden Bears in 1925.

Fans Asked to Keep Off Field

Yellow Jackets Will Be Penalized if Fans Refuse to Keep Back of Bases—May Also Minus Players From Making Big Gain.

It will be well for the football fans who attend the game between the Yellow Jackets and the Long Island Collegians at the Fair Grounds Sunday at 2 p. m., to remember the warning of referee Olsen given in the game last Sunday. Spectators remain back of the ropes or the Yellow Jackets will be penalized. In the recent contest with the Staten Island Professionals a fifteen yard penalty had to be inflicted because some fans persisted in swarming about the scene of action.

The inflicting of a penalty means much to a football team. In some cases the course handicaps their chances of making a winning touchdown. Not one Kingston fan would be pleased to see the Yellow Jackets, hard playing representatives of this city, go down to defeat for the first time since their organization a year ago because of several over-enthusiastic spectators rushing from their place onto the gridiron. This not only retards chances for winning but also handicaps the progress of the players, one of whom might have a chance to register a long run, but forfeits the team's gain of ground.

Then on the other hand it has been recorded where some cruder, interested wholeheartedly in the victory of the battle, has injured a spectator who endeavored to get the forbidden "close-up." It might be well to keep in mind that the Yellow Jackets are interested wholeheartedly in victory, the one thing that has "set them on top of the world," and aside from having them penalized some fan by treading on the forbidden ground may get hurt.

However, nothing of the sort will happen Sunday if it is felt, and a large assemblage of fans is expected to witness the Yellow Jackets do battle for the second time this season against a strong eleven.

Five Important Grid Clashes

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Occupying a big portion of five intercollegiate clashes on the college football slates this week-end, Harvard was teased for its battle with the rugged eleven from Purdue.

Cornell Horwenz was considered to have his first string contingent in excellent shape. Gordon Brown is due to play at quarterback tomorrow with French, Cooley and Guarancia making up the rest of the backfield.

While Borden Tripp filled Simonds' place in practice, Simonds will probably start at guard with Turner. The wing men will be Strons and Lord, with Clark and Pratt at tackle and Bell at center.

The westerners will be at a disadvantage as Wilcox, Purdue's star back, has been reported out of line-up.

Warm weather cut the scrimmage at Yale to 15 minutes during which the varsity downed the scrub eleven by 5 to 0. Johnny Hoban making the touchdown with a ten yard run. Most of the afternoon was spent on a long signal workout and explanation of a new play to be used against Georgia Saturday.

Tommy Loughran
(International Illustrated News)

New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—Mike McTigue will defend the light-heavyweight crown in Madison Square Garden tonight against Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia over the 15 round distance. Prospects held forth for the champion to climb through the ropes an 8 to 5 favorite.

Preserving Eggs

"Guarantizing eggs" is a process for preserving them. In guarantizing eggs, the eggs are dipped into a weak oil and wax solution and then put in storage. This process is a new one and has proved very popular. It is claimed that the solution keeps the air from penetrating the shell and thus gives a better preserved egg. The guarantizing egg brings a higher price than the ordinary cold storage eggs.

Sidelights on The World Series

(By The Associated Press.)

Before the series started it was Yankee home run prowess and Pirate speed that was much talked about. But in two games the Yanks haven't hit a homer nor have the Pirates stolen a single base.

Never-the-less it is the sprinting ability of Lloyd Waner that has helped him score two thirds of the Pirates' runs—four out of a total of six Buc tallies. The Yanks are apt to see young Waner or "Sprout," as the players call him, on the bases any time they look around. The experts figure there is no way for the Yankees to shut out the Pirates until they devise a system to keep "Sprout" off the bases.

Only one club has ever lost a world's series after winning the first two games. Strangely enough, that club was the Yankees, now in the same position as they were in 1921 when they shut out the Giants in the first two games. The series then was a best five out of nine game proposition and the Giants won five of the last six games to win the championship.

The series record to fall came when Babe Ruth started the first game, making it his eighth championship battle and breaking his own mark. Another, in fielding, was tied by both Clubs in the second game, each having only five assists. The Yanks set the record for fewer assists in 1921. Lloyd Waner, bagging seven flies, came within one of tying the record for most putouts, set by Mike Donlin of the Giants, in 1905 and equalled by Ed Roush, of Cincinnati in 1919.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—Stock prices were irregularly lower at the opening of today's market. Selling pressure was renewed against the pivotal industrials, General Motors (new) and U. S. Steel common opening about 2 points lower. Case Threshing advanced 2 points to a new high record at 252.

The increase of nearly $50,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loan undoubtedly caused some selling of the recently strong specialties. Houston Oil and American Express broke about six points, but quickly recovered half their loss. Heaviness of the steels was attributed to the disappointing September production figures made public last night. Pools resumed activities on a broad scale in a number of specialties, new peak prices being established in the first few minutes of trading by Paris and Tilford, International Match preferred, Gold Dust and Bon Ami. On the other hand Vivado and Murray issues sank to new low levels. Rails were quiet at the start although Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred and Soo preferred were lifted to new highs. Foreign exchanges opened firm.

The marking up of minor stocks in a vigorous manner appeared to be viewed with some distrust by conservative investors, as there were more abundant offerings of the best grade railroad and industrials which sold between one and two points under yesterday's final prices. Dupont lost 3 1/2 and Timken Roller Bearing three points. Accumulation continued of selected public utilities, both Brooklyn Edison and Abitibi Power rising five points each.

Quite an assortment of ordinarily obscured stocks rose 2 to four points. The renewal rate for call loans which carry off until Monday was reduced from 4 1/2 to three per cent.

DAIRY

BREED COWS FOR FALL FRESHENING

Breed the milk cow to freshen in the fall for she will then produce more butterfat in a period of 12 months than if bred to freshen in the spring.

"Cows bred during the latter part of January or in February will freshen in early fall and will produce more butterfat during the year than when the calf is dropped in spring," says John A. Aray, dairy extension specialist at the North Carolina State College. "A cow that freshens in the fall does not suffer from hot weather and flies during the period of her heaviest milk flow as does the cow that freshens in the spring. The owner is not rushed with field work in the fall and has more time in which to look after his cows during the heavy milk producing period."

Mr. Aray believes that fall freshening is also desirable because it makes possible the heaviest fat production when the butter market is highest. December butterfat often sells for 12 to 15 cents per pound higher than the butterfat sold in May and June. This means bigger profits for the same labor.

"The majority of our creameries have a surplus of butter during the summer months, and it is necessary for them to consign some of this surplus to the large central markets at a sacrifice in price," says Mr. Aray. "Therefore, they cannot pay the farmer as much for his fat during this season. During the winter months, however, most of the creameries run short of butterfat and cannot produce enough butter to fill local demands."

"A little more attention to the breeding period of cows on the part of their owners would correct this trouble and make possible a greater annual income per cow."

Satisfactory Feed for Success With the Calf

The heifer calf dropped this coming fall—the cow of two or three years hence—should be given a fair start. Whole milk from its dam for the first week and from the herd for two or three weeks longer is almost essential. But as early as the third week of the calf's life it should be offered grain and hay so that it will not miss the fat of the milk when changed to skim milk. The change to skim milk should be made gradually. If whole milk is being sold and there is no skim milk available, powdered buttermilk diluted with nine parts of water and fed at the same rate as skim milk is equally satisfactory. Experimental work has proven the value of buttermilk for calf feeding only where there is no skim milk available as the cost is greater than of skim milk. Whole oats, cracked corn and bran make a good grain for the calf. Coarse alfalfa hay is preferable to leafy hay. A darkened shed will give the calf protection from flies.

Alternating Pastures Is Helpful for Production

Dairymen who are located so that they can alternate their pastures generally find that the practice is helpful in securing greater production. Pastures which carried cattle late in the fall on account of the rains which kept the grass growing are often late starting the following spring. Where pastures are divided so that cows can be alternated back and forth, this practice allows the grass to get started. Where there is a shortage of pasture, it is usually advisable to plant a crop, such as sudan grass, to supplement the regular pasture. Sudan grass is a hot weather crop and will produce a surprisingly heavy amount of feed if it is allowed to get a good start before pasturing. This makes it a satisfactory crop to supplement the regular pasture during hot, dry weather.

Dairy Facts

A good bull is half the herd—a scrub will ruin the whole herd.
Cool cream immediately after separation and keep it cool until delivered to the creamery.
Dairymen who buy feed in small quantities at retail and sell milk at wholesale are operating at a disadvantage.
June conditions cause the milk cow to give milk. When June conditions are made to exist in January the cow will "shell out" milk just as though it were June.

Millet makes a very good hay for dairy cows, but is not nearly equal to alfalfa in protein.
A man who has never drenched a cow or seen one drenched should call in a neighbor who has had experience and avoid making a mistake.
Good management, including good breeding, has raised the annual production of milk 700 gallons during the last eight years by the "acreage" cow in the herd of Fred H. Merrill of Littleton, N. H.

Best Known Hickory

The shellbark hickory, also called shagbark hickory, is the best known of all the hickories, says the American Tree Association. It produces the best nuts and has the most distinctive features of all of the native hickories.

SEEK BATTLE WITH GOMEZ

Mexico City, Oct. 7 (AP).—Maneuvers by the federal commanders to force the rebel troops under General Arnulfo Gomez and Hector Almadá into battle positions are still going on, according to official advice to the presidential bureau.
The rebels are hidden in and around the slopes of a large hill near Perote in the state of Vera Cruz with the federals in the valleys on either side. The government troops, in two columns led by General Jesus Aguirre and Gonzalo Escobar, are striving either to surround the rebels effectively or force them into a decisive combat.

Just Couldn't Help It

"What makes you laugh at your own jokes?" inquired a friend of Israel Zangwill one day when, in convivial company, that witty writer had just perpetrated a bon mot at which all had laughed and he the loudest. "Well," responded Zangwill, "why shouldn't I laugh? That joke was as new to me as to you."

Missionary Union of Ulster Classis

Interesting Addresses On Subject of Missionary Work Given by Miss O. H. Lawrence and the Rev. Pietro Moncada.

A large gathering of women interested in missions gathered in the First Reformed Dutch Church this morning, beginning at 10 o'clock, Mrs. M. A. Wood of Kingston, president, presiding. During the devotional service with which the meeting opened, a hymn was sung, there was scripture reading by Mrs. Leonard Braam. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Lucas Boeve, D. D.

The address of welcome was most graciously given by Mrs. W. N. Feasenden, president of the Missionary Society of the Church where the meeting was held and was cordially responded to by Mrs. J. V. Wemple. The reports of the secretary, Miss Juliana Wood, and the treasurer, Mrs. B. F. Osterhout, were given and accepted as read.

"Steadfastness" for Women. The first address of the morning was given by Miss O. H. Lawrence, of the Board of Foreign Missions, in which she made "steadfastness" an outstanding desirable characteristic of Christian women. She epitomized the Classis in the words from the 19th Chapter of St. John—"Now There Stand" (by the Cross.) Those women who were at the foot of the Cross, were indeed standbys. Steadfastness, the speaker counted a woman's dynamic. To women was given the command, "Go and Tell." The missionary enterprise goes beyond the horizon and has no substitute. Miss Lawrence reminded the women that the Lord's power is never a spent force. The dynamic power of missions was found to be love. Remembering those other women—"stood by the Cross," the speaker asked all present to also stand by the Cross for their own and the oncoming generation. After the singing of a hymn, Miss Edgar Ellsworth reported for the Classical committee of which she was chairman.

The second address was given by the Rev. Pietro Moncada, who has a flourishing Italian mission in Newburgh. He reminded the women that having come to this very section, East Kingston, in 1907, he was very much at home here, and he heartily thanked all for their interest in his work. Mr. Moncada called attention to the 5,000,000 Italians in this country, one twentieth of the population. Now the question is, shall they become good or bad citizens. The speaker called attention to the fact that the Italians have made good in business—for instance the Bank of Italy in San Francisco. They have also made good educationally, having now many teachers in public schools, universities, etc. The same is true in politics, leaders being found in legislature and congress.

But, the Rev. Moncada could not say as much regarding religion. Unless the Gospel of Christ can be made of vital interest to the Italians, the very self-preservation of the country may be jeopardized. Religious freedom and Christianity are greatly needed. The speaker told of three ways in which the Italian population may become truly Protestant and American citizens. They were: Through Protestant Mission churches; through social and educational agencies and through the press. The latter medium was considered vital and already a small but live Protestant Italian paper, "The Interpreter," is already doing excellent work. Already the five missions have accomplished much for Jesus Christ.

After Mr. Moncada's address, Dr. Boeve of the First Reformed Church, in the name of the women of the church, invited those present to take lunch in the lecture room of the church. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Leonard Braam. The afternoon session was called at 1:30 o'clock.

Refused to "Dee" and Make Way for Margie!

A woman in Horbury, Yorkshire, was dying, relates S. Baring Gould in "Further Reminiscences." She said to her husband:

"Ah, lad! I wonder whatever the pair bairns will do after I be gone." "Get along wi' thy dying, lass," replied he, soothingly, "I'll mind t' bairns."

Another wife was thought to be at her last gasp. She summoned her husband to her bedside and then addressed him solemnly:

"Eh, lad! I be that sorry for thee. Thou'lt be so lone wi'out me. None to cook thy dinner, none to mend thy socks, none to sew on thy buttons. It dux weigh on my spirits."

"Don't concern thyself about that," replied he. "I've already spoken to Margie't Rhodes to take thy place, and she's quite agreeable."

"Thou hast!" exclaimed the expiring wife, starting up in bed and bringing the palm of her hand with a resounding smack on the man's bald head. "Then I'll tell thee what, Joe, I won't dee."

"Very well," answered the man, pulling out his kerchief and wiping his pate. "If thou'lt made up thy mind not to dee, I'll speak to Margie't, and put her off."

"I left Horbury two years after this," adds Mr. Baring Gould, "and Margie't was still waiting."

Governor Must Not Appear

On August 23, 1923, the United States passed a law stating that when a state legislature has the opportunity to elect a United States senator and fails to do so, an appointment by the governor is void.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Although noisy, early evening promised good reception. KDKA, WRC, WTAM and WJR were coming in fine before 6:10 and WLS, WWNC and WGN before 7, but static rose and rumbled, specializing in crumbling sounds, which grew stronger. Daylight reception was good from both WGY and WJZ.

Ancient Blue Print

An architect's drawing, believed to be by far the oldest in the world, discovered in Mesopotamia, is described by Dr. J. Star, a Viennese engineer. This 4,000-year-old equivalent of a blue print was in a fragmentary condition, but three of the pieces fit accurately together, showing part of the ground plan of what must have been a very large house. The walls and doorways for several rooms are indicated by accurately and clearly drawn lines, and cuneiform notes give the dimensions. The largest room was 49 by 46 feet, and the scale of the drawing is 1 to 300.

Changed Distress Signal

On January 7, 1904, the Marconi International Communication company issued an order to all stations to add the letter D to the general inquiry call C Q, then used by British ships to form a signal of distress, for use by all ships. The international radio telegraph convention of Berlin went into force in July, 1909, at which time the signal S O S was universally adopted, although for some period subsequent to that date operators used both C Q D and S O S in order that there would be assurance that their distress signal would be understood.

Unverified Sayings

Did Napoleon Bonaparte, in referring to his marriage with an Austrian princess and to his trusting friendship for her country, say: "There I stepped onto an abyss covered with flowers." These words appear in authentic records of the exiled emperor's life along with many other graceful phrases that soften unpleasant truths in orthodox French fashion. French authorities, too, disagree over that famous cry: "After me the deluge." One early memoir credits it to Madame de Pompadour. Larousse's "Fleurs Historiques" attributes it to Louis XV.

Veterans' Dance On Hallowe'en

Veterans of Foreign Wars and friends will gather about the large Army on Hallowe'en, Oct. 31, in all sorts of disguises as they take part in the annual masked ball at the Joyce-Schrick Post, No. 100. This picturesque frolic with its Hallowe'en atmosphere is expected to attract a still larger group of merry-makers than other years for each annual affair it becomes more popular.

Attractive decorations and unique lighting effects are now being planned by the committee having charge of the arrangements. There will be prizes offered to the lady and gentleman who wear the best costumes.

A patron list has been started and those wishing to become a patron should telephone 1596-W and get in communication with Harry Maitland, who has charge of the patron list. Tickets are also on sale by the members of the order and at several stores about the city. The proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the good work of the organization.

Put "Human Interest"

Into News Columns

Writing for the newspapers has undergone great change. When I first went to New York in 1912, almost all news reports were written in prosy, column fashion, the way the English press did, and constructed in the same way. A certain formula for accounts of public meetings, another for murder cases, another for trials in courts. Reports of confagurations were all alike.

Then Amos Cummings burst into the flower. He had been a compositor on the old Tribune under Greeley and a sub-editor while Dana was there. Greeley recognized the young man's ability, but Amos was quick-tempered and decisive and gifted with an eloquence of profanity quite beyond ordinary description. Tradition has it that Greeley discharged him for "insolence and profanity."

Dana immediately made him managing editor of the Sun, and Cummings began to develop some of the things that long had lingered in his active mind. Among the first was to change the quality of the Sun's news reports, and to make them interesting as well as important; to develop the sentimental, the pathetic, the heroic, the belligerent, when they happened in real life, the same way as the novelist did in his stories of fiction.

He taught the boys to call their productions "stories" instead of articles—"stories of human interest." Amos ceased to be managing editor of the Sun in 1912, but the seeds of good reporting that he had planted were watered and nourished by his successors until the entire staff had caught the spirit of his genius—Chester S. Lord in the Saturday Evening Post.

Odd Requests Made

to British Monarch

Cranks are fond of making freak requests to eminent persons. Queen Victoria had left her by will sixty makes which a too loyal subject bequeathed. "I have always loved snakes," ran the will of this eccentric gentleman, "and my only grief is that I cannot train them to recognize me. Perhaps your majesty may be more fortunate." Still another bequest left £100 a year to her majesty on condition that she take under her charge a favorite parrot and poodle and send them, under the escort of a member of the royal household, to Margate for a fortnight's holiday every year; while a tradesman not only bequeathed his cats to Queen Victoria, but designed a house for their reception. "I am aware," he wrote, "that such a building, if erected close to your majesty's residence, would result in an increase in nocturnal noises; so I would suggest that it be placed in Windsor park, but not more than a mile from the castle."

Pneumatic Chisels

Until recent years it was often extremely difficult to remove fossils from their encasement of rock without breaking or destroying them. Dental engines and electric mallets were employed in some laboratories, but their efficiency was limited. Pneumatic tools are now, however, employed with great success. The light pneumatic hammer is found to be the best adapted for work on fossils. With this tool a small chisel can be driven at the rate of 3,000 to 3,500 strokes per minute, the compressed air being controlled by a push-button valve and the instrument being so small that it can be held in any position and used to clear out deep cavities without injury to the fossil.

See-Shell House

At East Cowes, Isle of Wight, there is a building known as Shell house, which appears to be built entirely of sea shells. It is an ordinary villa, but the stucco on the front is thickly studded with many thousands of shells. They were all placed there by one man, the late Mr. Attrill, a gardener who worked at Osborne house in Queen Victoria's days. He collected the shells in Osborne bay, and the decoration of his dwelling occupied ten years.

Interspersed with the shells are colored fragments of glass and quaint ornaments worked in various devices on the walls.

MUSICAL SERVICE

AT FIRST DUTCH CHURCH

A most attractive musical service will be given at the First Reformed Church Sunday evening. The service anthem will be Mark Andrews' "Lord of All Being" sung by Mr. Finley and chorus and for the offertory Mrs. Johnston and Mr. Finley will sing the duet, "In Heavenly Love Abiding."

Mr. Frederburgh, the organist of the church, will play a short organ recital of attractive English, French and American composition. The program includes the beautiful "Angelus" by Massenet, and the unusual Trumpet Voluntary, written for the trumpet solo by that famous English organist Henry Purcell, who lived in the seventeenth century. Mrs. Doty will also sing that beautiful evening hymn "The Day is Ended" by Barlett.

Window Display Opens Tonight

The Fall Opening Display of the uptown merchants will be inaugurated this evening at 7:30 o'clock when the various store windows will be unveiled. The stores will not be open for business tonight as the event is for display purposes only.
It is expected that all of the uptown stores, whether members of the Uptown Business Men's Association or not, will have their store windows lighted.

The window displays will remain in position over the week end so that those who are unable for any reason to attend the display tonight may have the opportunity of viewing the windows on Saturday.

There is less, though friendly competition among the merchants and it is expected to result in some of the finest window displays ever viewed in Kingston. To appreciate the work that has been done everyone should attend the display in the uptown business section this evening.

tors are Charles H. Bennett, Guy T.
Axtell, Henry Diekhaut, all of Sauk-erties.

Led Freedom of Thought

The colony and college of Oberlin,
Ohio, were founded more than 90 years ago as "an effort to hasten the coming of the kingdom of Christ on earth." It was also a daring experiment in offering higher education to women along with men. Later the same opportunities were extended to members of the then enslaved race. At a later period, 1893, Oberlin became the birthplace of the Anti-Saloon league. These and kindred movements were but the natural outgrowth of the spirit shown in "The Oberlin Covenant," which embodied the program of the colony, and showed how socially minded were these pioneers in a day when individualism reigned in religion as well as in economics.

Wine or Whine of Life

In every line of practical endeavor, where that endeavor is studiously kept up, men will meet with blows and wounds and reverses, and the man who has never suffered has never sought.
He who can receive a blow as a compliment to his manhood, take it with a grin, and "carry on," cannot be beaten. The true wine of life is in his veins. But he who whines when he reverses come his way is foredoomed to failure.

The true wine of life is only obtained through the pressure of life, just as the juice of the grape comes from the wine press; and the grapes of life are the fruits of experience.—
P. Allison Barton in Psychology Magazine.

Nothing Open and Hungry

The family was seated at the breakfast table—five grownups and Virginia, age five. Before her was a glass of milk and an empty plate. She saw the butter being passed, the jelly being passed and watched her mother hand over toast to one of the three who had to be at work at 8 a. m. At last with great impatience she said,
"Daddy, is downtown open yet?"
"Why, no," said her father, won-deringly. "Why do you ask?"
"Well," said Virginia, "I thought if it was open I'd go downtown and get me something to eat."—Indianapolis News.

Her Way of Knowing

Jean, age four, knew every one in the neighborhood.
"Who is that lady who passes our house each day?" the child's mother asked her one day.
"I don't know her name," replied
Jean, "but I know where she lives."
"And how did you learn where she lives?"
"I saw her yesterday peeling a chicken in her back yard," was the ready response.

Cranks

"If a crank is somebody who knows exactly what he wants and who insists and persists until he gets it," says a writer in the American Magazine, "put me down as the worst crank in town."
